30th annual Theresa Humes women's hockey tournament set

The drive for a sixth straight Theresa Humes tournament championship begins this Friday night for the Concordia Stingers women's hockey team. Challenging them for title at their own tournament will be the University of New Hampshire Wildcats, a top American team with a record of 16-2-1; 4-Glaces, an elite Montreal club team; the University of Toronto Varsity Blues, another Canadian powerhouse; the Dartmouth College Big Green, the Université de Québec à Trois-Rivières (UQTR) Patriotes, the Collège St. Laurent Patriotes and the Guelph University Gryphons.

"Of course our goal is to win," said Les Lawton, head coach of the Stingers, "but with such a strong draw we'll have to play our best hockey of the year to win."

The tournament begins with UNH playing Collège St. Laurent on Friday at 2 p.m. Toronto battles 4-Glace at 4 p.m. Dartmouth College takes on UQTR at 6 p.m., and the Stingers meet Guelph at 8 p.m. Losers move to the consolation side of the eight-team draw and winners advance to the championship side. Four games will be played Saturday and again on Sunday with the championship scheduled for 3 p.m.

All games will be played at the Concordia Arena, 7200 Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal.

Tickets are $7 for adults, $5 for visiting students and $3 for Concordia students. There's no charge for children ages 13 and under. Tournament passes will also be sold.
